COX SUFFERS NO ILL EFFECTS OF THE DERAILMENT

Democratic Candidate Is Thrown Third of Car's Length In Accident

ENGINEER IS INJURED

ENROUTE WITH GOVERNOR JAMES M. COX, DEMING, NEW MEX., Sept. 23.—None the worse for his experience of yesterday when his special train was wrecked a mile north of Peoria, Arizona, throwing him a distance of 12 feet, Governor Cox was today speeding toward Albuquerque.

Rumors that the derailment which resulted in the destruction of one locomotive, a tender and a baggage car and the derailment and partial demolition of two other coaches had been caused by an obstruction on the rails were apparently dispelled by statements from railway employees who were on the train at the time of the accident.

Division Engineer Walker who was riding on the first of the two locomotives hauling the Cox special denied emphatically that there was anything on the track. "In my opinion," he stated "the derailment was caused either by spreading rails or by some piece of mechanism on the first engine dropping to the ground. We were running a little better than 30 miles an hour."

"The first thing I noticed out of the ordinary was when the tender of the first engine began to jump and I knew it was off the rails. I jammed on the air and an instant later the second locomotive went crashing into the ditch."

The engineer of the leading engine, Ed. Nichols, was slightly injured by being thrown from the engine. The injured man was eager to talk to Governor Cox when the latter came rushing to the scene. "I want you to know we did not get you into the ditch on purpose," said the injured man grasping the governor's hand.

"I know that perfectly well," said Cox, "I know you boys are all for me."

"You're right there, governor," said Nichols. "We're all for you." "I didn't have time to jump," Nichols said, "the crash came too sudden. I thought of jumping but before I could move something shot me thru the air and I saw the engine coming over on top of me. How I managed to get clear of it I do not know."

Governor Cox was seated at the dining table in the private car "Federal" when the crash came. He was thrown a third of the length of the car and slid along the floor for some distance but was uninjured.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 23.—Martial law is imminent in the Mingo-co mining district of West Virginia, according to advices received at the state capital and the governor's office today.

Reports reaching both the United Miners of America and the governor's office indicate the serious condition and the possibility of trouble which may develop into an armed clash. The commander of the U. S. troops is closely watching the situation and it is understood will declare martial law. He is said to have instructions from Washington giving him authority to act on his own judgment if a sudden outbreak occurs.

So far there has been no outbreak. The federal commander is in close touch with Gov. John J. Cornwell.

A general strike of bituminous coal miners thruout West Virginia is threatened because of the presence and alleged activities of U. S. troops in the Mingo-co district, mine workers of this state announce.

A stranger has been arrested in the strike zone and it is reported he had 31 sticks of dynamite in his possession when taken into custody.

The authorities refuse to reveal the man's name but he is being held for investigation.

Fred Mooney, Secretary of District 17, United Mine Workers of America, now in Mingo-co investigating strike conditions telegraphed headquarters here that federal troops are guarding strike breakers and transportation into the Pond Creek section with loaded rifles and are arresting miners and field workers for even talking to those engaged in transportation. The telegram to headquarters also says: "I am conveying the executive board to call a strike in the entire state unless the U. S. troops are restrained by state and nation."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The war department today declared that no complaints had been received here of any outrages, collisions or usurpation by troops sent into Mingo-co, West Virginia, to preserve order in the coal fields. It was explained that the governor of the state had requested presence of troops from Major General Read at Fort Benjamin Harrison and that the area commander had dispatched one battalion of second infantry and one of the 20th infantry and was receiving reports from their officers.

High School Girl Cooking Students Test Own Dishes

It's a real cafeteria that started Thursday noon at the Central school building.

The girls of the home economics class under the personal direction of the instructor, Miss Camille Ebert, served their first noon-day lunch Thursday. The girls, enlivened over their new project, are planning to serve tempting lunches at the close of each morning session. Sandwiches, hot chocolate, coffee and other good things to eat may be secured at a minimum cost by all pupils of the local schools.

The girls say they are going to serve the best kind of sandwiches at five cents, for they have no desire to profit. All they want is some good experience in cooking.

The girls expect to conduct the cafeteria during this fall and winter. The lunches are served in the home economics class room.

HARDING PRAISES HONEST TOILERS FROM HIS PORCH

Eulogizes Business As a "Divine Impulse to Create, a Savior of Happiness"

WANTS STRONG BODIES

MARION, Sept. 23.—The best social welfare worker in the world is the man or woman who does an honest day's toil," declared Senator Warren G. Harding here today, addressing a group of professional men who came by motor and train from Columbus and nearby towns.

Most of the senator's callers were members of the Ohio Dental Association. Senator Harding made them a brief non-political speech, praising the work they were doing and dwelling upon the need for better health conditions in industrial life. "The spirit of all our citizenship," he said "must be service, a willingness to serve intelligently, to train for human service, to cleave to an idealism of deeds and honest toil and scientific accomplishments, rather than to serve by mere words."

"We must awaken the conscience of the ignorant and the misguided to the fact that the best social welfare worker in the world is the man or woman who does an honest day's toil."

"We must awaken their conscience to recognize that American business is not a monster, but an expression of the God-given impulse to create, and the savior and the guardian of our happiness, our homes and an equal opportunity for all in America."

"It is equally true that we must awaken the conscience of American business to new interest in the welfare of American human beings. Men, women and children of America are not commodities. To treat them as commodities is not only to forget the responsibility we owe to the brotherhood of man, but also it is to be blind to the fact that American business cannot flourish nor the material prosperity of America be built on a firm foundation until by just such work as that to which you have dedicated yourselves—by protection of health, by education, by the preservation of the wholesome American motherhood and vigorous and happy American childhood, and a national humane spirit of finding expression in enactment of law when need be—we insure the welfare of human resources."

REPUBLICAN CHAIRMAN CONCEDES TEN STATES TO THE DEMOCRATS

Democratic Chairman Lists 13 States As Doubtful, Chances Poor In 14 Others With Ohio, Indiana, Illinois And West Virginia Deciding The Contest In November

By FLOYD MacGRIFF, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent. (Copyright 1920 by I. N. S.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—The campaign chiefdoms of the two old parties talked "brass tacks" today. In exclusive, thoroughly frank interviews they told the International News Service, not what they HOPE for, but what they expect. Both were specific, citing states and figures.

Will Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee sees the whole country, with the possible exception of ten southern states, going Republican. He said the Republicans this year would break into the Democratic "solid south."

Kentucky, Hays predicted, would go Republican by 40,000, while North Carolina and Oklahoma, and Tennessee are Republican possibilities. Maryland, he asserted, would be Republican this year.

"Why do you claim Kentucky, Maryland and Missouri?" he was asked. "Because in Kentucky and Missouri the Republicans won two years ago in the state and we only lost Maryland by less than 300 votes."

"Why do you consider North Carolina and Oklahoma Republican possibilities?" "Because the people in those states, as elsewhere are determined that a responsible political party cannot avoid responsibility for eight years of maladministration and because, too, there is elsewhere, they hold "America first."

George White chairman of the Democratic national committee on the other hand claimed Oklahoma, Kentucky, North Carolina and Maryland would be Democratic as usual. As to Missouri, he said: "We don't term

"The whole of the United States, with the possible exception of ten southern states will go Republican this year." Will Hays' Republican national chairman.

"The election depends upon Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia and Illinois. If we can carry these four states Governor Cox will be the next president." George White, Democratic national chairman.

Missouri doubtful, but the Democratic majority may be cut down.

Chairman White claimed 167 votes of the solid south while Hays conceded but 110.

Chairman White listed the following thirteen states as "doubtful": Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Illinois, Washington, Idaho, California, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and North Dakota.

Chairman Hays claimed all these as positively Republican. Thus 189 electoral votes which the Democrats chief considers doubtful are claimed outright by his opponent.

While not exactly conceding them to the Republicans, Chairman White indicated that the Democratic changes were not good in these states: Kansas, Nebraska, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Oregon, Wyoming, South Dakota, Connecticut, Maine, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Vermont.

These states have a total of 144 electoral votes. Chairman Hays was emphatic in asserting that New York will be Republican.

White said the fight would be very close in New York.

The Democratic chief declared that Governor Cox's record and local is-suas had split the Republicans in West Virginia, Illinois and Indiana, and that the split would swing those states, possibly, in addition to Ohio to the Democrats.

The Republican pilot retorted that Ohio was positively going Republican and that the local issues in the adjacent states would not affect the national issues in the least.

The Democratic national chairman said:

"Primarily the doubtful states in the presidential campaign this year are Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia, while Illinois within the past two weeks, because of the Republican factional strife, has placed itself in the doubtful list."

"If we can carry these four states, I have no hesitancy in saying that Gov. Cox will be elected president."

The Republican national chairman said:

"As to Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, the local issues in those states among Republicans are not serious and will not even affect the state elections and they certainly will not influence the national election at all."

Chairman Hays listed all the four states called "doubtful" by Chairman White under those that were "certain" for the Republicans.

Chairman White said the west was "keenly for the league of nations, while the east was apathetic."

"Washington and Idaho are doubtful states, both being very strong for the league of nations," said the Democratic chief.

Chairman Hays counted both Washington and Idaho in his "positively Republican" list. "We propose to make an active fight to win California," said Chairman White.

"The same forces that swung that

Coshocton Woman To Make Speeches During the Campaign

Mrs. Eliza C. DeHart, 330 south Fourth-st, delivered an address Wednesday evening at a big Republican meeting in the opera house at Newcomerstown. Mrs. DeHart made such a favorable impression, notwithstanding the fact that she was requested by the Republican state executive committee at Columbus to appear on the program only a few hours before the meeting, that she is being urged to deliver addresses in Canton, Akron and other cities during the remaining weeks of the presidential campaign. Addresses were delivered Wednesday night at Newcomerstown by Joseph Hines, candidate for representative from the 16th district, and Attorney Eckleberry, both of Akron.

HARDING WOULD NOT INTERFERE IN IRISH MUSS

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Senator Harding Republican presidential nominee in the United States regards Ireland as a purely British domestic problem according to cable interview printed in the Morning Post today. The correspondent quoted Senator Harding as saying:

"It is not in the province of either the United States or the league of nations to interfere in the Irish question."

OIL FAMINE IS BELIEVED AHEAD

MEXICO, Sept. 23.—J. Phelan, representative of the U. S. Shipping Board predicts an oil famine in the Mexican fields. He charges that the world has been deceived as to the output of the Tampico district.

"Wells go dry faster than new wells are brot in," said Mr. Phelan, "the Mexican government states that Mexico has a potential production of 1,000,000 barrels of oil daily, but I think this assertion is not a fact. I fear a crisis in the oil supply."

"Figures given out for the Tampico district mean little. The August oil shipments were 15,000,000 barrels or 150 per cent more than August 1919 and 25 per cent more than July 1920. Oil companies drew upon their stored up supply to get all available petroleum for shipment."

Wm. Green Again Is Elected Secretary Of Mine Workers

William Green, well known Coshocton man, was re-elected national secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America without opposition. The result of the election was announced at the national headquarters at Indianapolis Wednesday. Conservative forces won a majority of the offices.

John L. Lewis, international president, received 926 votes and Robert H. Harlin, Washington, received 494 for president. Philip Murray, present incumbent, defeated Alexander Howat, president of the Kansas district, by a vote of 740 to 687 for vice-president.

"Radicals inside the organization were assisted by extreme radicals from the outside in the hope that control of the United Mine Workers might be seized by the radical elements," said a statement issued from the headquarters of the union.

TWO YOUNG MEN ARE HURT IN AUTO WRECK ALONG WARSAW ROAD

Andy Frederick, Coshocton, received a bad cut on the right leg and John Stuber sustained bruises about the hip and shoulder when the Ford car in which they were speeding toward Coshocton ran into a Buick car containing Mrs. Emma Wowers and three sons and a man who has been building a barn for Mrs. Wowers.

The Ford car turned turtle and landed in a ditch at the side of the road, plowing Frederick and Stuber under the car, which was completely wrecked. The left front wheel of the Buick car was torn off and the fender bent. The occupants were not injured.

The accident occurred along the Coshocton-Warsaw road at a point between the residences of Samuel Hamilton and Grant Bantum, two miles this side of Warsaw. Frederick and Stuber had been at the home of Frederick's father, William Frederick, Warsaw R. D. 2 and were driving back to Coshocton. Mrs. Wowers and her sons were on their way to a neighbor's.

Mrs. Wowers says the Ford car was coming so rapidly that she and the others in the Buick car did not see it in time to get out of its way. After the Ford car was upset they lifted it off of Frederick and Stuber and the two young men were brot to Coshocton in another car.

SOLDIER'S FUNERAL AT NEWCOMERSTOWN

The body of Thomas C. Montgomery son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Montgomery, Newcomerstown, has been removed from the hospital burying grounds at Vaunes, France, and will be brot to Newcomerstown for burial, according to a telegram from the war department, recently received by the parents.

Thomas C. Montgomery volunteered for service in the world war. Soon after landing in France he was taken ill and died in a hospital. He was the first Newcomerstown boy to give his life in overseas service, in recognition of which Thos. C. Montgomery Post, American Legion, was so named. A second message received Tuesday evening announced that the body would reach Newcomerstown Wednesday, accompanied by a soldier escort. Funeral services were to be held at the Montgomery home Thursday afternoon, the American Legion conducting a military funeral.

SOCIALIST IS PRESIDENT OF FRANCE TODAY

Premier Millerand's One Opponent Was a More Radical Socialist

VOTE THIS AFTERNOON

With Family Premier is Taken Immediately to the President's Palace

By NEWTON C. PARKE, (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

VERSAILLES, Sept. 23.—Premier Alexandre Millerand, a Socialist was today elected president of France by the National Assembly. He succeeds Paul Deschanel, who resigned on account of ill health after holding office for eight months. M. Millerand received 695 votes.

M. Millerand's election to the presidency was assured when the senate and the chamber of deputies in joint session designated him as their official candidate. Opponents of the Premier whose antagonism arose chiefly from M. Millerand's suggestion be revised to give the executive more power, failed to rally enough strength. The voting began at 2:45 o'clock. One hour was allotted to balloting. The result of the balloting stood:

- M. Millerand—695.
 - M. Delory—69.
 - M. Jonnart—3.
 - M. Bourgeois—3.
 - M. Peret—2.
 - M. Doumergue—1.
 - M. Poincaré—1.
- There were twenty absentees. M. Millerand was elected by acclamation.

M. Delory, himself, a Socialist, was supported by the radical Socialist faction.

Formal announcement that M. Millerand had been elected president was made by Leon Bourgeois, president of the senate.

After the balloting M. Millerand entered the presidential salon where he was greeted by M. Bourgeois and leading members of the senate and the chamber of deputies.

After the congratulations and felicitations of the parliamentarians the president-elect joined his family, who had been interested spectators in the gallery during the balloting. President-elect Millerand and his family then left in a motor car for the Elysee palace—the official residence of the French president in Paris.

M. Millerand was cheered by large crowds along the road and by a great throng which lined the streets in Paris near the presidential palace.

Sugar Official Warns Dealers Against Increase

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Price Expert Weatherly of the justice department today sounded a warning to sugar dealers not to boost prices. "There's no excuse for it," he said. "Prospects are good for a plentiful supply of raw and refined sugar."

Weatherly also urged housewives not to be fooled into laying in big stocks of sugar now that prices are down. That will create the aspect of a shortage and make it difficult to keep prices at their present level, he said. Sugar has advanced a cent retail in some districts because of this anxiety on the part of housewives to insure a store, according to Expert Weatherly.

The present retail price, ranging from 15 to 18 cents per pound is far above what sugar should bring, according to Dr. Ethelbert Stewart, labor department economic expert.

Itching Blisters Over Baby's Head Cuticura Heals

"A breaking out began on the top of baby's head. It seemed to itch and then later it went into little blisters that spread all over his head and his hair came out. His scalp was red and sore and he irritated it by scratching. He was cross and fretful and the eruption caused his head to look badly for large scales had formed."

"His head had been sore for a month before I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I used one cake of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment which healed him." (Signed) Mrs. M. H. Fish-lack, Kane, Illinois.

Those Who Cannot Play

YOUNG AMERICA is able to play, but older America, says Edward Bok, is not. Mr. Bok has recently received what he considers overwhelming proof of this fact. For years associated with women's magazines, he recently retired from the editorship of the Ladies' Home Journal in order, after a life of work, to lead a less restricted and, to him, more pleasant existence. He was not too old to work. He was not sick or tired. He had simply decided that he had served at his routine job long enough, and he quit it in order to "play."

In the Atlantic Monthly Mr. Bok tells how his action was viewed by his friends. They could not believe that nothing was the matter with him. He would come back to work, they prophesied, or in a year he would "degenerate." Themselves, they preferred to "die in the harness."

Why? There were younger men eager to take their places, capable of doing their work as well or better. There were the usual wives and children who had missed the fathers because business had absorbed them. There were public service, travel, books. Play, says Mr. Bok, is not golf, polo, or horse riding. "God forbid that I should spend the rest of my days on the golf course or in the saddle." It is a broadening of mind and spirit, a greater freedom of activity earned by years of discipline.

Mr. Bok is entirely right in his conclusion as to why his acquaintances could not understand his retirement. They could not conceive of a life of play because they could not play themselves. Few American business men can. In the drive at work, which has brot them some material satisfaction, they have lost old habits. They cannot be lazy, they cannot do unusual things, they cannot think outside certain grooves. All this they themselves recognize vaguely.

They do not recognize the fundamental cause for it. They do not see that their inability to vary activity, to make it sportive, literary, political, or artistic instead of merely one of these, or of business alone, is a failure in imagination. They do not recognize that they have made a sacrifice of mind and spirit on the altar of an almost physical activity. Even thinking and feeling become habits if long enough held to one form only. The tendency of aggressive, "creative" America is to hold them there.

Americans are not lacking in imagination. On the contrary, they have a good deal of it. They are lacking in judgment. They cannot play because they have resolved to concentrate their imagination, with the rest of their energies, on their work. They have failed to recognize that in the case of imagination concentration means atrophy. They develop one aspect of it only; imagination as a whole languishes. And because it is the salt of life many Americans go thru their late years and out of life with strained, dead faces.

New York Day-By-Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Those flabby-puffed rounders who infest Broadway and the avenue in the late afternoon—ogling young girls and smelling strongly of cologne will no doubt heed the warning of an athletic young lady on Thirty-Fourth-st. She was on her way home. From under a hotel canopy across the way came a freshly shaven obese person, whose cheeks were as rosy pink as the carnation in his lapel.

He tipped his hat, releasing the odors of a heavily pomaded head. "Sweetie," he said, "I've been waiting for you." And he reached out to grab hold of her arm. And then all the lights went out. Save a sunburst that twinkled away up in the skies. The young lady knew something about jiu jitsu and she landed the blow in the proper spot.

She stood over him while the little birds tweeted their vespereal song and when he came to with a silly grin, she grabbed him by the collar. An express wagon was at the curb. Before he knew what was going on she had forced him into the wagon. She stood beside him.

Of course, the usual New York crowd had collected. "Now," said the lady to the crowd, "this sweet scented geranium is going to publicly apologize to me." Then she turned to him: "Apologize, fish!" The fellow gulped and whispered: "I am sorry." But that was not enough, she made him get down on his knees, raise his right hand and repeat an oath that he would never molest a girl on the street again.

She saw a policeman coming, let him go and both slipped away in the

SEAPLANE CARRIES MILADY TO LINKS.

Miss Retta Pam boarding the plane.

The latest novel idea of society is to go a-golfing by seaplane. Miss Retta Pam of New York, started the fad when she flew from the foot of Sixty-ninth-st. on the North river to the Sleepy Hollow Country club to play. The plane alighted in the Hudson near Tarrytown and the club. Capt. Tibbs of the Tibbs Aero Service, piloted the plane.

crowds. Thereby saving the incident from general circulation. In no city are the conventions so lightly regarded as on the streets of New York. The professional flirt has easy sailing. A lady alone fears to make an outcry so she suffers the insults until she can get some place where she is protected.

When Jim Corbett was in his prime he was walking in the Forties with a young lady. He had to step into a shoe shop to leave some instructions about shoes. While he was inside a fresh young dandy strolled up to the lady. She was edging away when Corbett came out. She called "O Jim!" in fright. The young man turned quickly, saw Corbett and recognized him and then promptly fainted. Corbett didn't have the heart to chase him.

Fred C. Kelly, the magazine writer, buys the Sunday papers each week just to cut out those photographs of the idle rich loitering about on the sands at Newport. He believes he is the only collector of his kind in America.

New York art stores are beginning to recover from the effects of the war. No other line of business was as hard hit as the art stores. They faced starvation conditions during the period of fighting, and after the war had stopped recovery was slow. A salesman in an art store has more time on his hands than any other salesman. There may be several days at a time when not even a prospective customer pays a visit. Even the purchaser makes visits for periods of several weeks before making a final purchase. The art store salesman receives a salary and a commission.

Scenario writers, striving for screen realism, have one stumbling block that they cannot surmount. The Wall Street financier must always be togged out in a cutaway coat and silk hat. No class of men wear fewer silk hats than the Wall Street magnates. There are a few who wear cutaway coats—but the percentage is small. Most Wall Street magnates go to their offices in motor cars and wear caps.

Everybody reads Tribune Class Ads.

WALT MASON CAREFUL DRIVER

I drive my car with jealous care, all laws and statutes minding, and only pause anon to swear when balky valves need grinding. I drive upon old fashioned lines, as though a speed cop feared; I honk my horn when danger signs before me are appearing. I put my hand out when I'd turn, so those behind may know it, and doubtless they remark, "Gold-dern! But he's the cautious poet!" Twelve miles an hour is what I hit, when I go forth to travel; my wheels don't fill the air with grit, or throw up chunks of gravel. A man so careful, you would say, must dodge all kinds of danger; but one is crippled every day, and I'm that pilgrim stranger. Day after day they bring me home, home to my weeping nieces, with compound fractures in my dome, and organs shot to pieces. The speed fiends go their crazy ways unhurt, and still go faster; the reckless drivers spend their days unscathed, nor know disaster. But I, who follow all the rules, am marked, for daily slaughter; and when my present poultice cools, they'll put on one that's hotter.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

THE CEMETERY MANAGEMENT

Editor Tribune and Times-Age: Being interested in the efficiency of the management of our cemeteries I think the method suggested in Tuesday's Tribune should be considered carefully before action is taken.

Isn't it more important that our burying grounds get the care needed and that things be in readiness to receive the family and friends when they arrive to lay away a member than to save $1200.00 per year, if this is possible.

Who is more likely to do this? A capable superintendent who secures necessary help or a man who receives a stipulated amount no matter what happens?

Most of us are afraid to take a contract of any kind even after years of experience in our various lines and does it look like good business to turn our cemeteries over on a contract where we believe no experience exists.

The writer has numerous opportunities to observe our force and believes it to be as efficient as possible under existing conditions and has no personal interest in the affairs of Mr. Burrell or Mr. Mossman.

As a suggestion we believe a cemetery board, members of which would possibly serve without pay, would nearer solve the problem than any other method.

REPUBLICAN

(Continued From Page One) state for Wilson in 1916 are operating now. There is dissatisfaction with the Chicago Republican convention's presidential choice and Gov. Cox has had an unprecedented reception there. Chairman Hays included California in his "positively Republican" list. "There is no doubt," Chairman White continued, "about the Democrats carrying New Mexico and Arizona, nor of Montana, Nevada and Utah, which went Democratic in the 1916 election. Colorado normally is Democratic. My reports indicate we will carry it."

"New Mexico, Arizona, Montana, Utah and Colorado are going Republican," said Chairman Hays.

"Nevada probably will go Republican," Hays said.

"I have not enough reports on Kansas," resumed Chairman White to indicate the trend there.

Kansas was not specifically mentioned by Chairman Hays. "Nebraska looks Republican," said Chairman White, adding "large numbers of Germans live there."

Chairman Hays made no specific mention of Nebraska but since he claimed "the whole of the U. S. would go Republican, with the possible exception of ten southern states," he concurred in White's judgment. "There is a chance of winning Massachusetts," said Chairman White, "but many Democrats there are going to vote against the league of nations while many Republicans will vote for it."

sachusetts," said Chairman White, "but many Democrats there are going to vote against the league of nations while many Republicans will vote for it."

"Positively Republican," was Mr. Hays' characterization of Massachusetts.

Mr. White indicated the balance of the New England states, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Vermont and Maine would go Republican while he admitted there was no hope of the Democrats taking Pennsylvania.

"New Jersey is doubtful," Mr. White said.

"New Jersey is positively Republican," averred Mr. Hays.

"Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota, Oregon Wyoming might be regarded as Republican. In North Dakota," Mr. White added, "the non-partisan organization will poll heaviest and no one knows how they will vote."

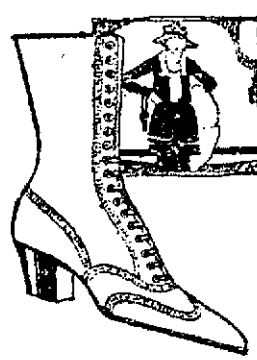

"Positively Republican" was Mr. Hays' annotation on the name of North Dakota.

Chairman White said the "solid south," Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and Maryland, with 157 of the total of 531 electoral votes will be Democratic as usual.

Of these states Chairman Hays had conceded Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina and Virginia to the Democrats.

The Republican chairman characterized as "uncertain" Oklahoma, Tennessee and North Carolina.

He claimed for the Republicans Kentucky and Maryland.

Corn Equals Hominy Feed As Swine Ration

Experiments conducted in the growing of swine at the Ohio Experiment Station show that there is very little difference in the amount of feed required per pound of gain for pigs fed on hominy feed as compared with corn.

Pigs, however, do not eat hominy feed as readily as corn and consequently gain less rapidly. As formerly manufactured hominy feed had a value of 10 to 16 percent greater than that of an equal weight of corn, but recent tests at a number of state experiment stations, including Ohio, now show that hominy feed in corn is no more than a pound as corn. Manufacturers of hominy feed now extract oil from the corn germ; the oil was formerly included in the feed so that there is a reduction in the energy or fuel value of hominy feed due to its lower fat content, it is stated.

Ancient Land Submerged.
Ancient traditions, as well as physical observations, point out the former existence of the land of Lectoria, which would seem to have occupied a part of the space now filled by the Grecian sea. An earthquake probably broke down the foundations, and the whole was submerged under the waves. This is believed to have happened when the sea, which was formerly extended over the Scythian plains, forced its way through the Rhiparus and precipitated itself into the basin of the Mediterranean.

Burning Crop Residues Destroys Garden Pests

Burning of old crops together with weeds and filth in gardens will lessen the injuries next year from insect pests and plant diseases, according to entomologists and plant pathologists of the Ohio Experiment Station.

Insects hibernate in crop residues, but burning destroys the greater portion of the adult pests, including asparagus beetle, striped cucumber beetle, squash bug, onion thrip and stalk borers.

During the fall months rubbish may be piled for a week or so, serving as a trap in which the insects will seek shelter on the approach of colder weather. Burning then will destroy many insects.

Burning and cleaning up of the garden will also help to prevent an early start of fungous diseases on potatoes, beets, celery, cucumbers, tomatoes and melons. These diseases generally live over the winter on old plants.

BIG CROP OF HAY FEVER JOKES

But Kentucky Man Says People Who Along to Hay Fever Colony Are Kidding Themselves.

Wouldn't Be Any Hay Fever If Simple Home Remedy Was Given a Chance.

"Yes, there's a real NINETY-NINE per cent effective remedy for hay or rose fever," frankly states a druggist in a prosperous Kentucky city.
"But I don't expect anyone to believe me, because the treatment is so easy and the cost not worth mentioning."
The annual crop of Hay Fever jokes would be mighty scarce if people would get three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholated Arctine, and by just adding water that has been boiled, make a pint of liquid that will prove a real help to all who suffer.
"Many of my Hay Fever friends tell me that by starting to gargle and snuff or spray the nostrils a few times a day the expected severe attack often fails to appear, and in cases where it does show up, is very mild and does not annoy."
"It's the same way with Rose Fever."
"The Better Cause of Pharmacists who dispense Mentholated Arctine say that it will greatly modify any attack even when taken three or four days after hostilities begin."
Go to a real live druggist when you see ready to make a pint, for up to the present time there has been little demand for this friendly medicine.
Mentholated Arctine is new in this market. It is possible that your druggist has not stocked himself, but he can get it for you from his jobber, who has a large supply.

Drying Of Potatoes Stops Storage Rots

The wide spread of late blight in potato fields throughout northern Ohio has occasioned considerable concern and attention of potato growers is called by the Department of Botany at the Ohio Experiment Station to the fact that this potato disease may show up in storage in the form of a dry rot of the tuber, which may be followed by a wet rot.

Late blight lives over the winter in potatoes that are put in storage and shows up with favorable weather conditions.

Potatoes are infected at picking time when they are brought into contact with vines above ground laden with late blight spores. However, if the potatoes are dug and allowed to lie in the sun until thoroughly dry the rotting and storage infection may be reduced to a minimum.

The Other Girl.

I was on the road traveling and making only the small towns in a car. In one small town I met a girl and took her out for a ride; we got home early, and, well, she was rather a bore, so I told her I would have to leave as I had a terrible headache and wanted to get some sleep. After going back to the hotel a traveling man friend of mine said he was going over to see a friend of his and as there was an extra girl he wanted to know if I would go with him. I did, and much to my embarrassment I found myself being introduced to the same girl I had taken riding.—Exchange.

OVERLOADED WAGONS AND TRUCKS BADLY DAMAGE THE ROADS

Many complaints have been filed at the office of the county commissioners and the county surveyor of damage done to the roads, culverts and the bridges of the county by the overloading of wagons and trucks beyond the limit allowed by law.

The heavy rainfall of the summer months has rendered the roadways unusually soft and muddy, but the owners and drivers of trucks and teams have persisted in hauling capacity loads in violation of the statute regulating such traffic.

The traffic regulations regarding weight of loads are set forth in the following statutes as revised by the last legislature:

Sec. 7248 G. O.
"No person, firm or corporation shall transport over the improved public streets, highways, bridges or culverts within this state, in a vehicle propelled by either motor or muscular power, a burden including weight of load and vehicle, greater than the following:

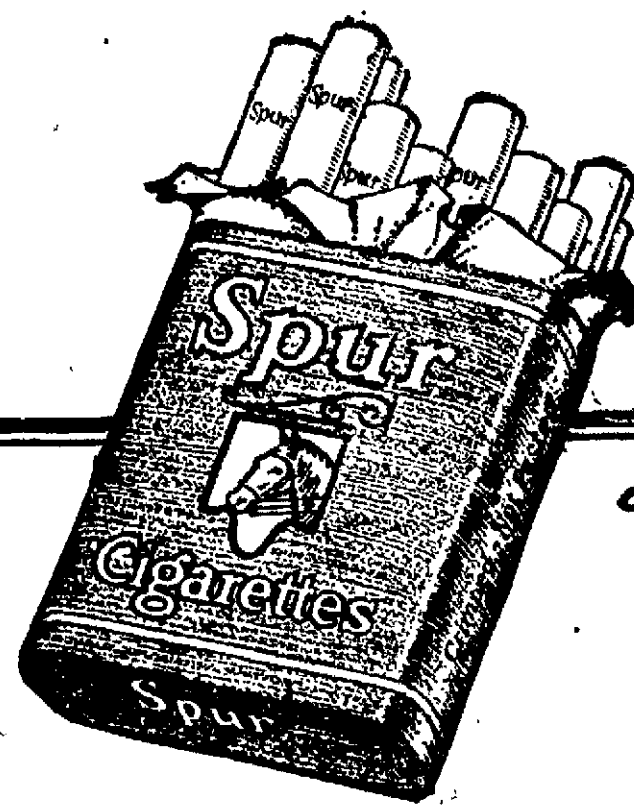

In vehicles having iron or steel tires three inches or less in width a load of five hundred pounds for each inch of the total width of tire on all wheels. When the tires on such vehicles exceed three inches in width an additional load of eight hundred pounds shall be permitted for each inch by which the total width of the tires on all wheels exceeds twelve inches.

In vehicles having tires of rubber or other similar substance a load of eight hundred pounds for each inch of the total width of tires on all wheels. The total width of tires on all wheels shall be, in case of solid tires of rubber or other similar substance, the actual width in inches of all such tires measured between the flanges at the bases of the tires; and in the case of pneumatic tires or rubber or other similar substance, the total width of tires on all such tires shall be the actual width of all such tires measured at the widest portion thereof when inflated. The provisions of this section shall not apply to iron or steel tire horse drawn vehicles when in use upon the streets or thoroughfares of villages, except such streets and thoroughfares therein as have been or may hereafter be improved by the state or county."

To illustrate: legal loading on wagons with iron or steel tires three inches wide, four wheels each three inches wide would give total tire width of twelve inches, which at 500 pounds for each inch would give 6000 pounds as the maximum load including wagon. If the wagon weighs 1600 pounds this would leave 4400 pounds as the greatest net weight legally allowed on such a wagon.

If a wagon has tires 3½ inches wide then the maximum load including weight of wagon would be 7600 pounds and if the wagon weigh 1600 pounds the greatest net weight allowable would be 6000 pounds.

As to motor trucks, if the tires be solid then the total width of tires between flanges on all four wheels multiplied by 800 will give the maximum weight including weight of truck which can be legally carried. If the tires be pneumatic then the entire width of all four tires measured thru the widest part of tires when fully inflated, at right angles to the plane of the wheel multiplied by 800 will give the maximum weight including weight of truck for such tires. LABOR DISCUSSES CONCERTED ACTION IN BRITISH STRIKE

LONDON, Sept. 23—500 representatives of the labor "triple alliance"—coal miners, railway workers, and dock workers—met behind closed doors at Holborn Hall today to discuss the possibility of concerted action in the national coal strike which is scheduled to begin at the end of this week.

Large crowds gathered in the streets before the hall seeking news of the labor men's decision.

Early-Maturing Ears Best To Save For Seed

That farmer should give attention to the selection of seed corn at corn cutting time is pointed out by C. G. Williams, agronomist at the Ohio Experiment Station. Corn on the average is later this season than usual and only ripe, early-maturing ears will be safe to be selected for seed.

The average date of the earliest killing frost in Ohio does not come much before the first week in October so that the corn crop has a chance of maturing fairly well by that time. A September frost, however, would destroy much corn and render it unfit for seed.

MINE STRIKE IS ENDED SHORTAGE IN COAL SUPPLY

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 21.—All the mines in the Scranton district were in operation today after being closed for nearly three weeks. The vacation of 70,000 mine workers in this district has come to an end. Even the insurgents are back, having voted to return at meetings held Sunday.

Now that the men are back their leaders intend to request President Wilson to call a conference between miners and operators for the purpose of considering a further advance of wages.

In this city the dealers have no coal for sale and declare there will be none for three or four days.

WHAT TO DO WITH BRAZEN GOUGERS PUZZLES PROBERS

TOLEDO, Sept. 23.—What shall be done with restaurant keepers charged with profiteering will be decided at a meeting of the Lucas-co fair price committee tomorrow. At a meeting of the committee evidence was submitted showing that local restaurants are charging excessive prices, although the owner of one restaurant was exonerated.

Summons were sent out today to a dozen local landlords to appear at a meeting of the committee on Friday and to answer to charges of rent profiteering.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.
He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.
With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.
He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, and with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Winner Arnold Company has been appointed agent for Allen's in this vicinity with the understanding that he will freely return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.

HEALTH AND APPETITE

Thursday Health Talk
No. 29
By R. E. Lynch, D.C., Ph.C.

There is an old adage "thou shalt earn thy bread in the sweat of thy brow." This might have been paraphrased "thou shalt earn thy appetite" because it is generally recognized that it takes labor to lend zest to appetite.

However, the facts are that the appetite is good without labor, when the body is in a healthful condition. Appetite depends on healthful action of the stomach and liver. If these organs are normally vigorous, there is usually a good relish for food. The health of stomach and liver depends upon spinal nerves being free and capable of transmitting full impulse. When this is so, there is health and appetite. Chiropractic adjusting will restore the conditions of nervous freedom and vigor to stomach and liver.

Well And Happy Once More

"I tried many doctors and suffered for more than two years before I turned to chiropractic adjustments. I suffered excruciating pains in my right hip. I had chronic constipation, gastritis and my appetite was gone. Today as I think back I can hardly realize the chance, I am so well and strong and happy. Chiropractic to me is wonderful." ALLEGED CROOKED
WORK IN BASEBALL IS BROT TO LIGHT

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Organized baseball's newest scandal, which simmered and bubbled at the first session of the grand jury investigation is expected to come to a boil today when J. C. (Rube) Benton, pitcher for the New York Giants appears to testify. The possibility of a number being scalded is admitted by those conversant with baseball affairs.

The charge made by "Buck" Herzog, second baseman of the Chicago Cubs, is that the Giant pitcher won $3500 by betting on Cincinnati in the world's series of 1919 after he had received a telegraphic tip from Hal Chase, former Giant first baseman, that it had been "fixed" for the Reds to win.

Benton is expected also to back up his charges that he was offered $800 by Herzog to "throw" a game to the Cubs in September of last year. Affidavits are in Herzog's possession and have been made public that Benton scraped together all the money he could get and wagered on Cincinnati in the last world's series. The affidavits were made by Arthur Wilson, catcher and N. D. (Tony) Borekel, third baseman of the Boston Braves.

Herzog declared he had obtained the depositions from Wilson and Borekel after Benton had charged him with offering the pitcher a bribe to throw a game to the Cubs. "Buck" declared he went to the office of President John Heydler of the National league when he heard of Benton's charges and demanded an investigation. Benton was called in, Herzog declared, and reiterated his charge in the presence of President Heydler. After investigation Heydler gave Herzog a letter, the player alleged, expressing his belief Herzog had never been involved in baseball gambling. The letter, Herzog says, is in his possession.

Herzog's charges against Benton are only one angle of the investigation the grand jury has undertaken. Assistant State Attorney Replogle has stated the last world's series was not "on the square" and that from five to seven players on the White Sox team are involved. Replogle's statement was believed to have been inspired by testimony given before the grand jury by Charles A. Comiskey, president of the White Sox and Ban Johnson, president of the league.

Many players, managers and magnates are yet to appear before the grand jury.

FLYNN SCOUTS THE ACCIDENT THEORY
OF N. Y. EXPLOSION

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Despite the fact that William J. Flynn, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, ridicules the theory that the Wall-st explosion was an accident due to the careless handling of explosives the grand jury today continued its probe strictly along that line.

The only witnesses scheduled to appear before that body are superintendents of companies that deal in explosives.

The witnesses who will be questioned include Carl Dittmar, head of the Dittmar Co., the superintendent and two drivers employed by that company, and Geo. Gerhard, superintendent and drivers, employed by the E. I. Dupont De Nemours Co. It is believed they will be made to show records of all their wagons on the day of the blast.

It was stated by an official of the district attorney's office that the grand jury had called the explosive companies employees because of the increasing number of persons who have come forward with testimony to the effect that they had seen a wagon resembling those used to transport explosives in the Wall-st district shortly before the explosion this official declared that a great many officials both federal and city, have "open minds" yet as to whether the explosion was an accident or result of a plot.

Chief Flynn however is positive that the blast resulted from a plot.

One clue that is being followed up is the discovery that a glanders tag, supposed to have been worn by the horse that hauled the wagon carrying the explosives, was found in Wall-st. The tag is of the kind worn by horses coming into New York from New Jersey showing that they are not afflicted with glanders.
